

What's new on the business scene for April 2

Poughkeepsie Journal - April 1, 2016

(Photo: Chris Cusumano/Poughkeepsie Journal)

APPOINTMENT

Museum appoints board members — Mid-Hudson Children's Museum, Poughkeepsie, recently announced two new members to its board of trustees.

Cammie Jones is the community-based learning coordinator at Dutchess Community College (DCC) and oversees service learning for the institution. Jones also serves on the board for the Cunneen-Hackett Arts Center, is president-elect for the Junior League of Poughkeepsie, and serves on several local nonprofit committees.

"Joining this board has given me the opportunity to connect DCC students to experiential learning through participating in innovative projects that serve young children in our community," said Jones. "In this era of growing academic expectations, the Mid-Hudson Children's Museum emerges as a vital educational resource dedicated to providing young children and their families an affordable and meaningful way to play, learn, and grow together."

Angela Thompson-Tinsley is a partner at Sholes & Miller, LLP, Poughkeepsie. Her practice specializes in medical malpractice defense, personal injury defense, and the representation of physicians and other health care professionals in proceedings at the Department of Health and Department of Education. She is a member of the Dutchess County Bar Association and the Mid-Hudson Women's Bar Association.

"The museum provides fun and dynamic opportunities for creative play and hands-on learning," said Thompson-Tinsley. "As my own children advance in middle and high school, I am grateful for the opportunity to bring my perspective to the board and contribute to this vital community resource."

The Mid-Hudson Children's Museum is open Tues.-Sat. 9:30 a.m.-5 p.m. and Sunday, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is $8 per person. Children under 1 year are free. For information, visit www.mhcm.org or 845-471-0589.